

Your personal invitation to the Chubb Multinational Risk Forum 2017

Managing Geopolitical Risk Chubb Multinational Risk Forum 2017 16 March 2017

The terrorism threat; changing patterns of political violence; the rise of nationalism and populism; continued instability and uncertainty in emerging markets - all of these are today part of the geopolitical landscape wherever we do business around the world.

Our external experts and senior colleagues from Chubb will explain how these different political risks can be managed and transferred in a way that helps businesses feel more confident about the future.

Hosted by Ron Verhulsdonck, Country President, Benelux and chaired by Mike Jones, Editor of Strategic Risk magazine, the forum has been structured to allow plenty of time for dialogue and discussion.

In the morning, prior to the Risk Forum, we will organise a masterclass for young insurance professionals on multinational insurance programmes, together with Young InSurance Netherlands and Belgium. Risk and insurance managers are more than welcome to join the masterclass as well.

Ron Verhulsdonck
Country President Benelux, Chubb

Programme

The forum will be chaired by Mike Jones, Editor of Strategic Risk magazine
